HARVEST FEST

Paul & Mary Good—2:30pm

Music has always been an important part of Paul's life. His parents taught him a love of music with music lessons and family concerts. Paul started playing piano at the age of five. As a young adult, Paul and his siblings organized a gospel group that performed locally in southeastern Pa. After the family band disbanded, Paul had the privilege of joining Hilltop News, a local gospel bluegrass group. In 1999, Paul left Hilltop News to sing with his wife and sons as The Good Family. Over the past few years Paul has kept busy as a worship leader at his church and has helped organize music for a local ministry to the homeless. With influences like Ricky Skaggs, Paul Baloche, Jeff & Sheri Easter, and Matt Redman; Paul enjoys music with rich harmony, strong rhythm, and active instrumental arrangements.

Harney—3:30pm

The band "Harney" was just formed as friends Ian Browne, Dan Harney and Kamin Personett went to a Carrolton/Andrew Peterson concert. All three musicians shared a passion for skillful, poetic and spiritually/heartfelt songwriting and soon decided to collaborate on a project together. Both Ian and Dan are local worship leaders and Kamin served as the drummer alongside Ian. Dan had been writing songs off and on for the last 20 years and suggested that the 3 of them meet up and see how they all would sound together on some of his songs. The 3 quickly fell into sync on the songs and the decision was made to form a band. Dan's friend Jordan, who plays bass on the worship team at his church, earned the votes of the other band members to come on board. Harney desires to produce music that is honoring to God and is centered in the redemptive story of the Gospel. Their style could probably be best described as Christian folk rock, but really they are just 4 guys that love Jesus, their families, and as much accordion-infused, acoustic-rock that one can tolerate. They can't wait to introduce their music to you!

Singer/Songwriter and Musician Ryan Peters—4:30pm

Peters is a native of upstate Pennsylvania and attended East Stroudsburg University, where he developed a penchant for song writing. Following graduation, Peters moved to the Hawaiian Island of Oahu where Peters was inspired to further explore his musical calling. His performances at Hard Rock Café and Sunset on the Beach (alumni include Elliot Smith and Jack Johnson) began to draw large followings. Peters felt called to push his musical boundaries and moved to Nashville, TN where he recorded his first solo EP, Uprooted (2010) with producer Mark Nash (Tonic, Burlap to Cashmere). Uprooted earned commercial success with "Overcome This Love" featuring Leigh Nash (Sixpence None the Richer) on MTV's "True Life." The title track of his latest album, Live Love Grow, (recorded with Nashville based producer, Dustin Burnett) was selected for episode of Uplifting Network's "Heartland". Peters' passion is for seeking and honoring God with his musical offerings.
